The C-I-L exhibit arrived at Minden's Agnes Jamieson Gallery Saturday and everyone was ready for it. Gino Ziorjen and Marta Scythes hang one of the largest works, Ghitta Caiserman-Roth's "Sunflower No. 5". The show opens today and runs until May 1, featuring 25 works by Canadian artists.

Concerned parents protest plans to relocate classes

A concerned group of more than fifty parents has appealed to the Haliburton County Board of Education to change its decision to move 58 Grade 2 students from Haliburton's Victoria Street School to the Senior Elementary School this September.

Parents filled a meeting room at Board of Education offices in Haliburton March 30 and listened from the hallway outside as a committee representing the group presented their views on the proposed move to Board of Education directors.

The committee's protest comes in response to an announcement by the Board of Education late last year that it intends to move the three grade 2 classes from the Victoria Street School to help ease overcrowding at the school. There are currently three portable classroom units in use at the school, and there is no gymnasium. Wash-room facilities at the school are also inadequate according to a board spokesman.

According to the plan, the three classes will make up two Grade 3 classes next year, while ten to twelve students of the 58 will be "streamed", or held back in grade 2 and integrated with a Grade 3 class at Victoria Street.

Parents of the children to be affected by the move quickly rallied to protest the decision. They are now claiming that the students will not have access to the same special education programs as are currently offered at the Victoria Street School, and that mixing with older children will create added stress for the children.

Spokeswoman Jane Heyes,

who heads the parents' committee and whose daughter may be affected by the proposed move, has expressed concern that the junior special education program at the Senior Elementary will not be as effective for the grade 3 students as the one currently in place at the primary school. "The decision to move the students was made by the board alone, strictly on the basis of space problems; they didn't consider the special education

Townships move closer to joint low-rent housing

The municipalities of Lutterworth, Stanhope and Anson, Hindon and Minden are a step closer to beginning construction of a non-profit housing complex in the Minden area, following a meeting with a representative of the Ministry of Housing held April 1 in Minden.

Representatives from all three municipal councils met with Community Housing Coordinator Bern Petker to review procedures for the creation of a joint Municipal Housing Corporation, which will oversee the construction of the complex. Now the participating municipalities will each appoint a council representative to the committee, which will for the nucleus of the corporation.

The nine-member committee will operate as an independent body with additional members bring appointed from among ratepayers and the business community in the three municipalities.

The initial work on the project began in January of this year, when Lutterworth, Stanhope and Minden councils endorsed a provincial government study which identified a need for low-cost housing in the three municipalities. The three-way agreement paved the way for the formation of the joint housing corporation, which is expected to be formed by the end of this month.

Construction of the 30 unit complex, which will include housing for both seniors and families, will begin some time this year.

Acting chairman for the housing committee Ed Pergolas says families will qualify for the geared-to-income housing according to a point system, which take into account such factors as liquid assets and number of children, as well as the family's earning.

Pergolas told The Times that the newly-formed committee will receive a provincial Incentive Grant of roughly $3,000 to fund the initial steps of the project. The three municipalities agreed earlier this year that the complex should be situated near enough to Minden to be serviced by water and sewers in the municipality, although a specific site has not yet been agreed upon.

Pergolas said that the project is designed to be administered so that rent payments cover mortgage and maintenance costs. Any outstanding deficits not covered by rent will be absorbed by federal and provincial governments.

Once the housing corporation has been established, subcommittees will be formed to oversee aspects of the project, including the choosing of a site, calling tenders for construction and submitting an application for the federal and provincial grants that will fund the project. The corporation will also be responsible for yearly surveys to determine public housing needs in the three municipalities.

Pair charged

Police have laid charges against two persons in connection with two break-ins in Haliburton March 2.

Peter Austin, 18, of Haliburton and Floyd Hie, 20, of Dysart township have both been charged with the break-in at the Lakeview Campus of Sir Sandford Fleming College in Haliburton.

Thieves entered the building through a basement window and stepped in a barrel of potter's clay in the process. $18 in cash was taken. Hie was also charged with breach of probation in connection with the break-in.

CFMX receives strong support at CRTC hearing

Coburg FM station CFMX may yet have a chance for survival if the Canadian Radio and Television Commission is swayed by a strong presentation made by supporters of the station at a hearing held March 30th in Coburg.

Over 100 people, including eight Haliburton County residents, crowded into government offices in Coburg to listen to 11 citizens speak in support of continuing CFMX's licence, which the CRTC has not renewed since it expired in December of last year.

Stanhope Deputy Reeve Elgin Stouffer and Haliburton resident Leopoldina Dobrzensky were both scheduled to address the hearing on behalf of "Friends of CFMX", a public lobbying group which has been rallying support for the station, but could not because of time restrictions at the hearing, which ran from 9:30 a.m. until 8 p.m.

The two will now submit their presentations in writing to the CRTC in the next two weeks.

The FM station has received strong support from listeners throughout its broadcast area, which includes Haliburton County, since beginning its fight to have its licence renewed after going off the air last December. Supporters of the station say it offers the only classical music programming in its area.

The CRTC, meanwhile, says the station suffered too many technical problems -- some of which forced the station to go off the air for short periods -- that its 2,000-record library was too small, and that too much music and not enough spoken material was being broadcast.

Government officials listened to several arguments in support of the station at the Tuesday hearing. Supporters told the nine commissioners and a CRTC lawyer that CBC classical programming was too "remote", and that CFMX offered a more personal service to its listeners. Dr. Donald French, President of Trent University, was represented at the hearing by his wife, who spoke on his behalf for CFMX. Nichol Alfred, manager of the Peterborough symphony, also spoke in favour of CFMX at the hearing.

The CRTC was hit with a flood of letters supporting the station when the hearing date was announced. According to federal government procedures, people wishing to act as "intervenor" on behalf of any of the three companies competing for the 103.1 frequency had to send registered letters to the CRTC in Ottawa and the company they support by March 10th. The CRTC received 278 letters regarding the hearing, 257 of which supported CFMX.

Stonehaven Communications Ltd., a Guelph company that has also applied for the FM frequency, and which has proposed country western programming for the frequency, had two people speak on its behalf at the hearing. The third applicant for the frequency, North Shore Broadcasting Ltd. of Peterborough, had no speaker.

Muriel Miller-Miner, publicity co-ordinator for Friends of CFMX, says she is uncertain how the CRTC will decide on the issue. "We cannot prejudge what the CRTC is going to do," she said in a telephone interview last Thursday. "We put up a good show, we did our best, now we have to wait," she added.

CRTC commissioners will now listen to transcripts and hear tapes of CFMX broadcasts before deciding on whether to renew CFMX's licence or award the frequency to one of its two competitors.

Mrs. Miller-Miner also said that if CFMX is unsuccessful in retaining its licence, her organization which is now 200 strong, will become permanent and assist in making CFMX a regional station.

Midgets drop first two games

The Haliburton Midgets will be facing a two-game deficit in their Ontario Championship series against Langton when the two teams face off in Haliburton this weekend. The Haliburton squad dropped the first two games of their best of seven series this past weekend in Langton.

The Midgets had difficulty in third period play in the two games. The teams were separated by a single goal going into the final twenty minutes of both games, but Haliburton dropped Saturday's contest 8-5 and went down 7-2 on Sunday.

Manager Bob English feels that with some work the Midgets can be playing the same calibre of hockey that let them beat Wellington in the semi-final series. "I think that with a couple of practices this week and some line changes, we can recover the momentum we had against Wellington," English said Tuesday. "The six hour drive is hard on our players and I don't think they were as geared up as they could have been," he said.

The Haliburton Midgets

will host Langton this weekend, with games Friday and Saturday night at the Haliburton arena at 7:30 p.m. Game 5 will be played in Haliburton April 17 and the two teams will return to Langton for the sixth game April 18. The final game, if necessary, will be played on April 24 in Haliburton.

Alarm brings prompt action

Jewellery store manager Suzanne Stewart had a shock Tuesday morning when she looked up from her counter at the Highlands Jewellery and China Shop in Minden to see an OPP officer enter the store with a hand on his gun while another officer guarded the door with his gun drawn.

Luckily for Mrs. Stewart, it was all a false alarm, but a malfunction in her telephone alarm system threw a surprise into her morning and tested the mettle of the Minden OPP.

The store, owned by Mrs. Stewart's parents Barbara and Glen Stokes of Fenelon Falls, is protected by a silent alarm system which, when activated, triggers a response at Hyland Communications answering service in Minden. After receiving a busy signal when calling Fenelon Falls Tuesday morning, Mrs. Stewart tried a second time and heard a clicking sound that reminded her of a computer. "I hung up and a minute and a half later two OPP officers were at the door," she told The Times. She was impressed by the swift dispatch of the five officers who surrounded the building, and though the system may have a quirk, its efficiency was startling for Mrs. Stewart.

Robbie Young of Hyland Communications says the call was received from the store phone and, according to a code system linked with the alarm, an "armed robbery in progress" was indicated. Young called the OPP, where Corporal Pete Alexander and Constable Gary Chapman responded immediately.

"We moved as quickly as we could on it," Chapman told The Times. "There were three officers at court so we called them and they came over to surround the building from behind," Chapman said. He added that two cars were detained by the two police cruisers that arrived at the scene, but their surprised occupants were not held when it became clear it was a false alarm. Chapman said a shotgun was on hand in one of the cruisers as an added precaution.

Mrs. Stewart said the police made a search of the building, checking the bathroom and storeroom before being convinced that everything was in order at the store. No one understands yet how the alarm went off. Minden OPP Corporal Alexander is investigating the case.

programs," Mrs. Heyes said in a telephone interview Thursday. "Grade 3 children will need extra supervision. They'll also be discipline considerations: you cannot treat a Grade 3 class the same way as you treat 7's and 8's," she said. "We're fighting for the basics, for what's best for the children," she added.

Cheryl Murdock, Chairwoman of the Board of Education for Haliburton County, says the parents' fears are unfounded. "Our biggest problem is a lack of communication; parents have heard things that simply aren't true," she told The Times. "We intend to give the students everything they have now and more," she said.

"They'll have their music teacher (Mr. Bill Gliddon, whom parents feared would no longer teach the students after the move); they'll have an organized gym program and better washroom facilities," Murdock said.

According to Mrs. Murdock, the students will retain their present teachers after the move. She also said that problems with special education programs will be worked out by a joint committee of parents and Board of Education representatives once it has studied the situation in more detail.

The committee, which Murdock says will consist of the four Board representatives from Dysart and four representatives from the parents' committee, will examine existing facilities at both schools in the next two weeks, and discuss their findings at a public meeting to be held once the study is complete.

Co-operation works

The joint efforts of three local municipalities bodes well for the future of geared-to-income housing in this part of the county.

The townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden, Lutterworth and Stanhope have combined their efforts and resources to realize this objective. A meeting last week moved the process another step along the road and is a good example of how co-operation can mean positive results.

The municipalities were told last year that individually they would not qualify for assistance in public housing. However, if the jurisdictions could be considered as one for this purpose, it was likely the provincial authorities would look favourably on the application for help.

Initially there were fears that local pride or parochial interests would block the proposal. However, at the first meeting it was obvious these concerns were unfounded.

Now the three municipalities are well on their way to forming the infrastructure to oversee the development, construction and operation of geared-to-income housing for senior citizens and families. The provincial authorities have added their encouragement so, it appears within the next two years we will see the addition of housing units for those with the most need.

The progress not only demonstrates the results of a co-operative effort, but it also means that those within the three municipalities who may lack adequate housing will have an opportunity to enjoy improved accommodation without having to worry about the cost.

Sharing art

The spirit of co-operation mentioned in the editorial above, is also evident in this area as well.

We refer specifically to the art exhibitions which open this week at galleries in Minden and Haliburton. The co-operative spirit exhibited by both the Agnes Jamieson Gallery in Minden and the Rails' End Gallery in Haliburton is a credit to both institutions.

We look forward to similar co-operative efforts in the future and the benefits such actions will bring both communities.

Hospital bed fees to rise

- by John Eakins, M.P.P. -

Beginning April 1st, patients at many hospitals in Ontario will have to pay increased fees for semi-private and private beds, according to the Minister of Health. The increase will average 25%, and he has undertaken to monitor the use hospitals make of their new freedom to set their own rates. Previously, the province set the rates - at $16 a day extra for a semi-private bed and $32 extra for a private bed. The new increases will not be covered by OHIP.

Severance Pay

The Minister of Labour has stated that Ontario may introduce legislation to protect the severance pay of employees whose companies have gone bankrupt. However, it is not anticipated that there will be any amendment to the law which stipulated that only companies with 50 or more employees are obliged to make severance payments. The Minister did promise "a complete investigation" into some companies which are reported to have made "blatant attempts to circumvent the regulation".

Provincial Budget

It is widely expected that the provincial budget will be brought down in late April or early May. The Treasurer has warned that Ontario is facing another deficit budget, in other words the government will be spending more money in the next twelve months than it will be taking in by means of revenues. This is in spite of the fact that increases are expected in income tax, tobacco and alcohol taxes. The existing deficit is estimated to be $1.4 billion, approximately $400 million more than was forecast last spring. This increase is attributed to the council purchase.

Auto Dealers

Early in the week, the matter of financial contributions from a group of Toronto automobile dealers to the Treasurer's riding association was raised in the Legislature. Apparently, the dealers wished to thank the Treasurer for reducing sales tax on in-stock vehicles last year - in the region of an $8.2 million windfall. Liberal Leader David Peterson asked the Speaker of the House to study the case, which he considered raised a very important ethical principle. In his view, it constituted a violation of a section of the Legislative Assembly Act, describing a breach of privilege as "offering to or the acceptance by any member of any fee, compensation or reward for or in respect of the drafting, advising upon, revising, promoting or opposing any bill, resolution, matter or thing submitted to or intended to be submitted to the Assembly or a committee thereof."

The Speaker subsequently ruled that this was not a matter of privilege, and it has been suggested that the question be referred to the Committee on Procedural Affairs.

New bill falls short

- by Bill Scott, M.P. -

Bill C-88, a Bill to amend the federal Farm Credit Act, passed through Parliament last Tuesday, March 30th, and it should receive Royal Assent within a couple of weeks.

There are a number of features of Bill C-88 with which I can agree, and indeed some are long overdue. However, considering the state of the agricultural industry in Canada today, the Bill falls far short of what should have been done with a measure of this type.

In 1981 there were 43 per cent more farm bankruptcies than there were in 1979, and the rate of farm failures today is greater than at any time since the years of the great depression.

Most of these failures can be laid at the door of high interest rates, and yet this bill does not come to grips with the high cost to farmers for borrowing money to purchase land, equipment and other requirements on the farm.

In recent years the cost of production has been steadily increasing, while at the same time the farmer's return on investment has been decreasing.

The cost of everything is rising; fertilizer, seed, equipment, fuel and general operating costs. Most if not all farmers must borrow money to put their crops in the ground, or to feed their cattle, and at today's interest rates their margin or profit is eroded even before they get started.

In the speech that I made in the House during debate on this bill I told the Minister of Agriculture that he should consider subsidizing interest rates for farmers as one way of reducing the increase in the number of farm failures. In 1981 there were 8,000 farm failures, and every farm that goes out of production inflicts anguish on a farm family, and also has a negative effect on our economy.

I also noted in my speech that there does not seem to be any dialogue between the Minister of Finance and the Minister of Agriculture. At the same time that the Agriculture Minister tries to do something for the farmers, the Finance Minister counters with such measures as eliminating the advantages of capital gains reserves and income - averaging annuity contracts.

Capital gains reserves and income - averaging annuity contracts were designed to assist farmers to finance their retirement years by spreading out the taxes on the sale of their farms. Mr. MacEachen eliminated these two tax breaks for farmers in his October, 1981 budget.

Another point that I made is that Japanese farmers can borrow money from their federal government at an interest rate of 3.5 per cent, and if Finance Minister MacEachen is so intent on keeping interest rates high, he should at least recognize that some segments of our economy, such as farming, simply cannot survive unless they are able to obtain funds at affordable rates.

I found that the consensus among speakers on this bill was that farmers should be able to borrow money at an interest rate of 11 to 12 per cent in order to survive. In my view such a rate would be both possible and feasible, if the government would just face up to reality.

Editor's note: The following is a letter sent to Haliburton County Warden, Ron Gambell.

Dear Mr. Gambell:

According to the March 24/82 issue of The Haliburton County Echo, we learned that Haliburton County Social Planning Council (HCSPC) will not receive an assistance grant for 1982-83. It was also stated by elected officials, in that article, that social planning council receives municipal funding and other grants. This is incorrect. The annual one hundred dollar grant from county council, and contributions from some of the membership to cover the cost of mailing the minutes are the only sources of revenue.

In view of the nation's social condition, it is disheartening to learn that county council has decided to support the business community at the expense of the social service sector. Haliburton County has a dearth of county based social services. In the area of mental health, for example, the county is serviced by a social worker from Peterborough twice per month. In addition, we have one private counsellor. The extent of mental health services, therefore, is completely inadequate. Haliburton County citizens cannot make application locally for legal aid. Applicants must travel to Lindsay for this. There are numerous examples of service deficiencies in our county, and the task of HCSPC is to improve these situations. It is indeed unfortunate that HCSPC received no funding or written endorsement of their activities from county council.

HCSPC has been in operation for approximately twelve years. Among its recent accomplishments are the following: establishment of Haliburton County Home Support Services and the Haliburton County Local Advisory Board on Children's Services, assistance in the acquisition of a speech pathologist and full time county based case manager for special needs children. Collectively these services, excluding the speech pathologist, have brought into the county, approximately $80,000 from the federal and provincial governments over a one-year period. These are funds that otherwise would not have been at the disposal of Haliburton residents.

In 1981, the HCSPC's main resources consisted of county council's grant, and the active participation of a number of volunteers. Withdrawal of county council's financial support will cause social planning council to disband. Is this the county's wish?

We respectfully request that you reconsider your decision regarding funding.

Susan Clements,
Chairman, HCSPC

AN EASTER MESSAGE

No doubt Easter has some significance for almost everyone. It is like Christmas that has its Santa Claus, its trees, its lights, but it also has its Christ. Behind the bunnies, bonnets and blossoms of Easter is also Christ, and specifically His resurrection.

Easter stands as a most welcome gateway to spring. What a relief to put away the boots, to turn down the thermostat (and leave it down!). We all join in the joy of new life sprouting and balmy breezes blowing. But not everyone knows and experiences the victory and assurance of Easter.

The basic meaning and message of Easter is in a Man. That Man is one who lives though He was dead! And behold, He is alive forevermore!

Every day, as we check the date, millions of calendars silently say, "That Man was born 1982 years ago."

Every year, as Good Friday comes multitudes remember, "That Man was crucified outside Jerusalem's wall." Easter Sunday climaxes the earthly career of that Man with this message, "He is risen as He said," (Matt. 28:6).

The disciples who followed Jesus did not call the day of His death GOOD Friday. To them it was the day of defeat. They had hoped for great things. They had dreamed of deliverance from Roman bondage led by a man of miraculous power. They had not taken literally His repeated declarations that He came to die and to rise from the dead. (Matt. 16:21). His mock trial and sanctioned murder to them spelled tragedy. They fled for their lives.

Startling news

Sunday morning dawned and with the dawn came news - startling news. The sealed and guarded tomb

by Rev. Roy Vanderlip

(Norland Baptist Church)

is empty - Angels have said, "Christ has risen." Indeed, "We have seen the Lord!"

Could it be true? Doubt was very difficult to dispel. Only John was almost immediately convinced by what he saw in the empty tomb. (Apparently the burial wrappings retained their shape and position but contained no body).

Thomas would not believe the eye-witness testimony of his closest friends, but must see and touch Jesus for himself. When he did see Him, he not only believed, he worshipped, exclaiming, "My Lord and My God." (John 20:28)

Rather quickly then, as Jesus was seen first by His disciples and then by more than 500 at once, (1 Cor. 15:5,6), tragedy was transformed into triumph. The One who had been their leader was truly now their Lord. Their scriptures came alive. Now they clearly understood how He fulfilled God's prophecies. (Luke 24:25-27). Now they experienced the peace and power that He had promised. Now they could not contain the Good News.

Not long before the disciples had heard Jesus say, "My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me: And I give unto them eternal life, and they shall never perish, neither shall anyone pluck them out of my hand." (John 10:27,28).

They had followed Him. They now were very conscious of the values and virtues of presently possessed eternal life. They knew without any doubt that the grave could never intimidate them again.

So today we say with equal confidence, The meaning of Easter is in that Man.

He died. The magnificence of Easter is in that Man.

He rose. The majesty of Easter is in that Man. He lives!

He is coming again! The message of Easter is in that Man the Lord Jesus Christ who said, "I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth in me though he were dead, yet shall he live, And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?" John 11:25, 26.

For any who may be sceptical about the actual physical historical resurrection of Christ the following quotes are appended:-

John Singleton Copley, recognized as one of the greatest legal minds in British history said, "I know pretty well what evidence is, and, I tell you, such evidence as that for the resurrection has never broken down yet."

William Lyon Phelps, a famous long time professor at Yale University... "It may be said that the historical evidence for the resurrection is stronger than for any other miracle anywhere narrated."

by Bob Stinson

It's always great to be home in the Highlands again no matter where we have been — but at no time does it feel better than following a 10 day grind at the Toronto Sportsmen Show. The whole exercise remains bearable first of all because the benefits of participation are so evident and secondly by having so many of you drop by and say hello and bring news from home. It was particularly good to hear how well our Haliburton Midgets were doing in their play-off endeavours.

The attendance at the Show was excellent and we distributed large quantities of information on the Highlands and on the members' facilities that participated. The main attraction in the new booth was the beautiful quilt created by the Quilting Group in the Haliburton Guild of Fine Arts. Each year they donate a quilt to the Guild to raise money through a draw. This one certainly surpasses all of their past efforts and was the talk of the show. Over one thousand tickets were sold on this work of art at the show and The Gallery obtained considerable fame through being the centrepiece in the design.

One purchaser of a ticket on the quilt raised our interest when he commented, "I certainly hope I win it. It means a great deal to me, you know." On checking his ticket stub we quickly found out why. His name was Gregory Haliburton, from Mississauga.

Certainly the unsettled state of our nation's economy was not in evidence in either the attendance or the attitudes reflected by the many people we talked to. Inquiries generally were not concerned as much with prices as with quality of what there was to do. Indications that we watch for on such occasions all pointed to another good summer in the tourist industry for those that are providing the vacationer with the enjoyment that he or she is looking for.

Although our attendance, at the Toronto Sportsmen Show, benefits the entire county our budget only allows us to do so because of contribution of those who participate each year and we thank each of them for their support. In particular we must also thank Don Nye of Woodland Graphics for renewing our display, C.O.T.A. for loaning us part of theirs, George and Elaine Schmid of the Beaconbrook for the use of their truck for two weeks, Bob Patton of Beech View Cottages for helping us to load and clear out of there Sunday night, and Art Ward of Wig-a-mog who was there to help us unload when we arrived.

Budget allocation

It was certainly encouraging this year to leave for the show having just been provided with the news that County Council was now prepared to put a serious amount of money into the promotion of tourism in our county. It was not as much as had been suggested by our proposal but it is a major step in a positive direction. The board will be meeting this week and will be dealing with adjustments in the Chamber budget now that the amounts are confirmed.

Coming up

This week the C-I-L Art Exhibit opens at the Minden Library and Cultural centre and at the Rails' End Station Gallery in Haliburton. It will remain on display until May 1.

The Brintnells:

Percy and Ina Brintnell's 50th wedding anniversary last week was a milestone in their remarkable lives in Minden.

An afternoon with Percy and Ina Brintnell offers a remarkable perspective on the village of Minden. In 1942 they watched half the main street burn to the ground in a fire that began in their bakery. The following spring they watched the Gull River overflow its banks enough to float boats in Prince Street. In their 50 years in Minden they have watched the changing faces of the village and the social, economic and physical evolution of the entire county.

The Brintnells came to Minden in 1932 from Woodville, where Percy and his brother ran a bakery. Percy began one of his own when he arrived in Minden, eventually buying and converting the Minden Hotel, which stood at the present site of Mae's Country Mart.

Percy's wit comes to the surface when he thinks back to his move to Minden: "My brother and I were both married," he jokes, "so one of us had to leave the Woodville business. I was the smallest so I left."

For 14 years he and Ina supplied bread to people all over the county, living and working under the same roof both before and after the fire of 1942 destroyed their business and their home.

It was a far different Minden that watched the Brintnells arrive. With no electricity or water in town, Percy drew water for the bakery from a pump behind Roger's Ice Cream Parlour, which once stood where the K & W Restaurant does today. The bakery ovens were fired with the most readily available fuel, wood. The Brintnell's daughter Barbara has fond memories of Roger's: "Mom would send me over to Roger's with an empty bowl, and I would bring it back full of ice cream: that was dessert," she remembers. Without streetlights, Percy recalls, villagers used to light their way along boardwalks at night using flashlights. Ina frowns as Percy recalls a story from boardwalk days: "One night Ina fell through a hole in a plank on the boardwalk and I thought she was gone," he quips.

The baking business was by no means an easy one in 1933. Percy and Ina produced bread from their twin ovens in the main street building 24 hours a day in peak summer periods, employing a staff of 14. "We had two trucks that took bread to towns all over the county," Percy recalls. "We delivered to Haliburton, Hall's Lake, Gelert, Lochlin, Carnarvon, West Guilford, Ingoldsby and a few more," he says.

The 30's economy in Minden was in many ways as tough as it is now. Percy remembers buying a cord of wood for $2.50 in those days, money that his suppliers would use for groceries the same day. It was like bartering bread for wood, he says.

Even after a fire in the bakery started the blaze the leveled the north side of main street in May of 1942, Percy's drivers didn't miss a single delivery. "Before the fire started, which was 3 a.m. we had loaded two trucks for the morning run," he says. "When my drivers arrived in the morning there was no bakery left but the trucks were ready and waiting and they went on their way."

Percy, Ina and Barbara were left with literally nothing after the blaze, which Percy says was so hot it melted chocolate bars in the drug store across the street, but three of Percy's men were in Woodville baking with his brother that afternoon. On July 12th of that summer, two months three days after the fire, the first loaves were coming out of a new bakery which the Brintnell's built on the old foundations; today it is Mae's, and inside, the original chimney, which was all that was left after the fire, is still standing.

High water

The town took shape gradually after the fire of '42, but in the spring of the next year bore a different kind of disaster. A big runoff sent the Gull River over its banks and spread havoc in the streets of Minden.

Main Street, Minden, Ont.

Clockwise from top: The Brintnells at home on their 50th wedding anniversary April 3; Minden from the bridge circa 1942; the chimney of the Brintnells' bakery, all that was left after the fire of May 15, 1942.

"There were people in boats in Prince Street," Ina remembers. "The golf course bridge washed away altogether." She pulls a faded Toronto Star article from a family album: the report cites "boats, canoes and punts tied to veranda posts" and whitecaps in farmers' fields. According to the Brintnells, at least one expectant mother was taken to hospital by canoe. Minden resident Fraser Rogers can verify that report; he was the baby. While Fraser's mother was on her way to hospital, Percy was building rails around his woodpile at the bakery to keep it from floating away.

Although it may have been wet in the spring of '43, 1938 was a different story. Residents of Minden township exercised their right to vote on prohibition, and when it was over the township had decided to go dry. The decision left the north side of the main street without a drop and opened the door for Percy to buy the Minden Hotel when it was forced to sell out as a result. The consequences for Mindonites weren't too severe, however; the south side of Main, being in Anson township, continued to pour draught, luckily for the Dominion Hotel.

When natural disasters weren't threatening the already difficult life of the '30's, the old Highway 35 was another challenge. When Percy brought new ovens up from Kinmount after the fire, the wagon road was so rough he didn't get his truck out of second gear all the way. Ina's recollection of the road is succinct; when asked what it was like, she responds, "that's unprintable".

Active in the community

The Brintnells did more than just watch the town change. Their involvement with the community has spawned all of their 50 years in Minden. Percy's bakers' fingers were as adept on the saxophone as they were in the dough; he played it and violin at dances all over the county with the Haliburton County Dance Band. He is a charter member of the Minden Rotary club and a past president, and for 47 years he sang with the United Church choir. Ina meanwhile, was a charter member of the Order of the Eastern Star in Minden. She worked with the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church and acted as superintendent of the United Church Sunday School as well.

When the Brintnells sold their bakery business in 1946, they took over a gift store at the present site of the Pine Shop which they ran for eight years. Among Percy's jobs before retiring, were working for Orillia Light and Power, doing carpentry, and issuing licence plates.

The Brintnells watched Highway 35 push through to Dorset and witnessed the flood of development that followed. They saw the lights come on in Minden when the power dam was completed in 1935. They watched as the lumber industry rose and fell, huge lodges closed down while cottages took their place, and all the while the village of Minden got bigger.

"A friend from Stouffville stopped in the bakery one day when he saw my name on the sign," Percy remembers. "He was on his way to his cottage on Kushog Lake and he told me, 'Perc, I'm the only cottager on that whole lake.' He used to go up by boat because the highway didn't go up that far then. In 1932 I could have bought that whole shoreline for one hundred dollars," he muses.

The question of what is unchanged since the Brintnells' arrival is impossible to answer, but it's certain that living memories like theirs are changing all the time.

Atom Allstars strong in Bracebridge tourney

The Haliburton County Atom Allstars put on a strong showing in Bracebridge Saturday, advancing to the consolation round in a day-long Atom tournament and losing out to Parry Sound only after a hard-fought three periods in their final game.

The combined team from the Minden and Haliburton Atom squads played well against teams from much larger centres. Gavin McKnight was outstanding in net for the Atoms in their game against Bowmanville, leading the club to the 4-3 overtime win that took them to the consolation round. McKnight's superb save on a penalty shot in the first of two overtime periods kept the Allstars in the game.

The Atoms dropped their first game to Bracebridge 5-1. The Bracebridge squad proved strong, especially in the nets, and although Scott Russell tied the game 1-1 early in the second period on an assist from Greg Scheffee, Bracebridge went on to score four more times before the game was over.

In the second matchup against Bowmanville, Scott Russell turned in a big game, scoring three goals including the winner, the second overtime period.

Russell's first goal came at 4:49 of the opening period, tying the game at one goal. Bowmanville got another marker a minute later to take a 2-1 lead going into the second, but Jeff Francis' goal at the 2 minute mark tied the game again for the Allstars. Greg Scheffee assisted on the goal.

The teams were still tied at the start of the third, but at 4:04 Russell's second goal put the Allstars out front again 3-2. Kent Taylor had the assist. Half a minute later Bracebridge had tied it 3-3 and the two teams played out the final 16 minutes without a goal.

Finally in the second overtime period, Scott Russell came through again, combining with Jeff Francis for the goal that sent the Atoms into the consolation final against Parry Sound later in the day.

The two teams went right to the wire in the final game. Darren Byers put the Allstars in front at 7:19 of the first period, but the Atoms were then hit with four straight goals by Parry Sound. With the Allstars down 4-1 after 1:39 of the final period, Scott Russell finally rallied for the Atoms with an unassisted goal at 2:36.

Parry Sound responded at 4:14 to go up 5-2. Jeff Francis came back for the Atoms 24 seconds later, combining with Phillip Johnston and Shaun Perrin to bring the Allstars within two. The final four minutes were tense, with the Allstars pressuring Parry Sound repeatedly. The Allstars failed to connect, however, and the consolation trophy went to Parry Sound by a 5-3 final score.

Frontier Motors was a big help in sending the Atoms to the Bracebridge tournament. Their donation towards the entry fee made the trip possible for the Allstar squad.

Overall, the Atoms' tournament showing was an impressive one. The ten players from the Minden and Haliburton squads played effectively together as a unit, and came close to taking the consolation trophy against a team from a much larger city. It was a great season wrap-up for the Atoms, who were represented by the following players:

Gavin McKnight; Darren Byers; Shaun Perrin; Greg Scheffee; Jeff Francis; Phillip Johnston; Scott Russell; Kent Taylor; Joey Boyle and Jason Smith.

evening Saturday with trophy presentations and a number of skits performed by club members.

The season will be topped off by the club banquet in May.

Senior curlers wind up season

The Minden Senior Curling Club wound up a very successful 1981/82 season on March 22 with a fun-curling day at the Minden Curling Club, which had been set up by the Schedule Committee of Lorne Coburn, George Davidson, Herb Gill, and Jim Burton.

This was followed by a banquet, arranged and chaired by club member Al Stott, who was assisted by Lilian Davidson, Alberta Maitland, Angela O'Neill, Mary Orpana, George Davidson and Milt Endicott.

The Club Championship Trophy was won by the Jim Burton rink, comprising Lorne Coburn (Vice), Milt Endicott (second) and Mike O'Neill (lead), who were also winners of the first series. The winning rink of the second series was Stan Blears, Cec Riches, Ev Rudd and Bill Harrison, while the consolation winners were Cec Yearwood, Art Hodgkinson, and Milt Sears. The trophy and prizes were presented by Don Blakey, President of the Minden Curling Club, who congratulated the seniors upon the success of their season and spoke warmly of the high degree of co-operation and friendship which exists between the two clubs.

Ed Pettinger, President of the Senior Curling Club, attributes the club's success this season to the enthusiasm and good fellowship shown by the club members themselves. Confident that this spirit will continue, Ed and the club's Board of Directors are already considering plans for a bigger and better season in 1982/83.

So much has happened here since our last letter, I hardly know where to begin. We were so sorry to miss the Brubachers. We understand they took part in the service in the chapel Sunday night. We were absent due to the passing of our brother-in-law, Mr. John Gilbert of Cannington.

We watched three movies on Monday night - "Wilderness Nomads" - "Durbin" and "Floral Heritage", which was beautiful.

Rev. John James of Haliburton United Church took the service here on Tuesday morning. He read from the tenth chapter of Hebrews. His text was "The Way Home". Fred Ballard played the music - a real lovely service.

The music was played Tuesday night by Mr. Ferry Sr., Peter, and Vera Lynn. To tell you how well they sang is really hard to begin. They played and sang and entertained us so, it seemed they just got started when it was time to go. Thank you for coming and come again real soon, whether it be night, or in the afternoon.

The ladies in the craft room this Wednesday afternoon, sewing, knitting, painting. They'll surely be caught up soon.

Carl Dugan says he has been here for twelve years, a kind of jack-of-all-trades. He bathes and shaves the men, but I don't think any maids.

Our head cook went a-fishing, we missed him hereabouts. He came back a-whistling, and brought us lovely trout.

Mrs. Hie and Ellen Johnson have both been under the weather, but I am pleased to say they are both feeling better.

A number from here went down to Peterborough to attend a safety seminar. Some say they went by bus - I think they went by car.

They are going to paint our dining room, to make it look like new. I don't know what color it will be - white, green or blue.

The ladies from the Baptist Church, Haliburton put on the Tea Party this Thursday afternoon. Ray Jenkins came along, and played some merry tunes. We had a nice sing song. We thank you all for coming along.

Well, April Fool's Day has come and gone. I'm not feeling blue, for I didn't get fooled - not once. How about you?

Thursday night is Bingo time here once again. This is conducted by the Kinsmen men.

Mrs. Coburn and Mrs. Barron came this lovely April

Day - Mrs. Coburn to lead the singing, Norma came to play. We thank you, both for coming to play, and entertain.

The winner of the draw for the four and a half foot tall Easter bunny at Mae's Country Mart was Elda Henderson of Minden.

Visiting with the Beers family and Anne McCreadie for the weekend was Mrs. Pearl Dobbs of Toronto.

We would like to thank the Kinsmen for their donation of $50 for the new chandelier at the Minden Cultural Centre. We are greatly indebted to them for their generous donation and hope the new chandelier meets with their approval.

I am happy to report famed sculptor and former Mindenite George Pratt has completed about 75% of the work on his two-metre high granite memorial statue of Terry Fox. George hopes it will be finished in May.

It is with deep regret that I announce the passing of Ottomar Henry Homestead, suddenly on Sunday, March 29. Mr. Homestead was well-known and frequenters of the Schnitzel House would be sure to see his smiling face. He leaves his wife Irmgard, children, Ben, Brunhilde, Walter, Michael, Wendy and Steven. He was father-in-law of Klaus and Rose and grandfather of Henry and Philip. Our deepest sympathy goes to the members of his family. He will be sorely missed.

Congratulations and best wishes to Anne Campbell, daughter of Don and Pat Campbell of Minden, and Brad Neave, son of Murray and Joyce Neave of Pickering, on the announcement of their engagement.

Helen Minto, who is presently confined to Women's College Hospital in Toronto, is improving nicely. Best wishes to her for a speedy recovery.

Carol and John Toye were really winners last week. Carol won $500 on a bowling ticket, and her daughter, Brenda, wife of Warren Aggett presented them with a baby girl, Lena Amanda. Congratulations and best wishes to baby, proud parents and grandparents.

Fred Hewitt, and children Debbie and Paul were visiting with his mother Mrs. Ern Hewitt this weekend.

On their recent trip to Greece, Chris Lodenquai and Marla MacNaull were guests on the Greek National T.V. News Broadcast in Athens.

I do hope you all had a chance to see and hear the program on Luciano Pavarotti last week. It was a beautiful program, and there was a very nostalgic moment for me when a small segment of a film made by Mario Lanza was shown. Mario and his wife Betty were close personal friends. It is a tragedy that someone like Mario, with so much talent, had to die so young.

To date, Leone Skead and Barbara Trocweicz and their crew have created over 800 delicious Easter Eggs. I don't think, in their wildest dreams, the girls believed their venture would mushroom the way it did. Everyone involved certainly rates a round of applause for all their efforts. These confections may still be obtained at Coneybeare's and the Health Food Store in Minden.

I am sorry to report that Mr. Harold Little (Gabby) a former resident of Maple Lake, passed away suddenly in Peterborough last week. Our condolences to his family and friends.

Please remember the ACW meeting on Tuesday, April 13 at St. Paul's Parish, featuring Marie-Paul Green, Director of Consumer affairs of IGA. There was a meeting of representatives of the three municipalities, Anson, Hindon and Minden, Lutterworth and Stanhope, which was held in the Municipal Office in Minden on Thursday, April 1. The speaker was Mr. Bernard Petker who is the co-ordinator of the Community Housing Commission of the East Region of the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing. The meeting dealt with the future construction of Senior Citizen's accommodations which the three municipalities are combining, on and which will eventually be situated in Minden. The purpose of the meeting was to form a sort of embryonic committee to begin making plans for the future of the project.

Sinclair Nesbitt had open-heart surgery this past Thursday at St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto, which involved a double by-pass. All his friends will be happy to know that he is now out of intensive care and is progressing nicely. We all wish him a complete and speedy recovery.

Hi! Easter will soon be here but I wonder if the weather will co-operate enough for people to wear their new Easter finery? I remember when I was a youngster getting all dressed up to go walking on the boardwalk in the city. Now it seems we can't get rid of our snuggles till near June.

Rick, Pam and Jocelyn Dunsford were over from Fenelon Falls to get the house ready for the Windovers, who will be home this week.

There is a meeting for the Juniors of the Horticultural Society on April 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the Municipal Building. Anne Campbell will be the speaker.

Garnet and Violet Coulter with their daughter Joan and granddaughter Debra while on holidays are visiting with Angus Coulter, the Floyd Millers and others in the area for a few days.

Very pleased to hear that Mrs. Bedlington is home from the hospital and although is still largely confined to bed, is progressing quite well.

If you are too busy to pray - you are too busy!

Major and Mrs. K.R.T. Seeley and their two sons will be visiting with Mrs. Seeley's mother, Mrs. Elsa Seurette over the Easter weekend.

There was a meeting of the Municipalities of Anson, Hindon and Minden with Stanhope and Lutterworth, concerning the project for Senior Citizen Housing in Minden. Bernard Petker, co-ordinator for Community Division East Region Ministry of Municipal Affairs, spoke of starting an embryonic committee, to set up a plan for the future, concerning funding, best area etc.

Hint of the Week

Too many peeled potatoes - Cover them with cold water to which a few drops of vinegar have been added. Keep refrigerated and they will last for 3 or 4 days.
